INTRODUCTION

This Workshop will present the state of the art of the pathogenesis and management of Graves’ Orbitopathy with the aim of an open discussion among participants on pathophysiology and the various innovative diagnostic procedures. The point of view of all the specialists involved in the management of the disease will be presented. For the first time we will offer the participants a live surgery session on orbital decompression, and a direct interaction with the surgeons will be possible during the procedure. The reproducibility of the ophthalmological diagnostic tests and the surgical options for eye muscle dysfunction will be the focus of the ophthalmological session. The different hypotheses of disease pathogenesis will be presented during the endocrine session and both standardized therapies and novel immunotherapy modalities will be the focus of the subsequent discussion. Most faculty members, including the organizers, are actively involved in Graves’ Orbitopathy Centers of the European Group on Graves’ Orbitopathy, working group of the European Thyroid Association.
